

Sjoerd de Koning

Game Developer

Hello! Am a 20 years old game developer fueled by passion. I like to collaborate with other individuals in order to craft captivating and enjoyable games. I work well in team environments, cherishing the chance to utilize my skills and share innovative ideas to create gaming experiences that are immersive and entertaining for everyone.

In my free time, I like to hang out with my friends, both getting together in person or connecting online. I also enjoy working on projects outside my regular work. Some of these projects involve collaborating with others, where a few colleagues and I have worked for a client to make a great product.
